

What treatment differences matter most to patients?

We are seeking Patient and Public Involvement and Engagement (PPIE) partners to help us with a study.

A clinical trial compares two treatments to find out which one works best for patients. But how do we decide which treatment is best? What difference between treatments do we look for to help us determine the best treatment?

We want to know how to involve patient partners in future discussions about defining which treatment works best in trials, specifically what treatment difference is important to them.
