Why your voice matters:

- Risk prediction tools in healthcare often work best for the “average” patient. This means they may be less accurate for people from disadvantaged or minority groups. Your insights can help us make these tools fairer for everyone.

What's involved?

- Three one-hour online panel sessions over a 6-8month period.
- Offer feedback on our project remit, systematic review, and future grant planning.

What do you receive?

- Panel members will receive reimbursement for their time spent attending the panel sessions to offer insights and feedback.

Who can apply?

- We welcome people of all backgrounds, especially those from underserved or minority communities.
